SILVER MEN CONTROL

Bryan Will Be Endorsed at Buffalo and New Haven.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS TO-DAY

John Boyd Thacher Likely To Head the Ticket in New York and Joseph C. Sargent in Connecticut---Other Probable Nominees.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—As stated yesterday in these dispatches, the democratic state convention, which meets here today, will unqualifiedly endorse Bryan and Sewall and the Chicago platform. Although Senator Hill is not present, his influence will be felt, and some of the delegates believe that he will dominate the convention. This, however, is mere conjecture, as no one apparently knows just what Senator Hill's wishes or plans are.

Platform and Contests.

The platform will endorse the Chicago ticket and platform; will arraign the last republican legislature as the most extravagant in the history of the state; will say that the Raines liquor law was merely for the creation of a vast republican machine and to assist in reducing at the expense of a class the tax rate, which would otherwise have been the largest in the history of the state. The state committee will have to decide at least two contests at its meeting unless it refers them without decision to the committee upon credentials when appointed. The contests are from Wyoming and Monroe counties. The complete roster of the convention made out this morning shows that the advocates of the endorsement of Bryan and the Chicago platform have a large majority. In only four cases out of the great number are the district delegates uninstructed. The delegates not instructed are those from Oneida, Canton, one district in Dutchess, and Ontario.

The Probable Nominees.

The preliminary arrangements and work in connection with the convention have resulted in the formation of the following slate, which, it is believed, will not be subject to much change: For governor—John Boyd Thacher of Albany; lieutenant-governor, Charles P. McClelland of Westchester; judge of the court of appeals, Robert C. Titus of Buffalo; national committeeman, Frank S. Campbell of Bath; Steuben county; chairman of the state committee, Elliot Danforth, Chenango. Thomas F. Grady of New York will stand to be the temporary chairman and may also be the permanent chairman.

Another Slate.

Another slate, which has a good chance of winning, is as follows: For governor, John Boyd Thacher of Albany; lieutenant-governor, Colin Isaac Bennett, Onondaga; judge of the court of appeals, Wheeler H. Peckham of New York; chairman of the state committee, Elliot Danforth, Chenango; national committeeman, Frank S. Campbell of Steuben county; presidential elector-at-large, Thos. F. Grady; presidential elector, H. H. Rogers, Cattaraugus.

Arrival of Tammany Delegates.

When the Tammany delegates from New York arrived in Buffalo this morning they found that the advocates of the Chicago platform and ticket had been busy and that the delegates awaited their arrival with deep interest. The big delegation came in on several trains over three roads—the New York Central, West Shore, Lehigh Valley and Erie roads. The schedule was so arranged that the trains arrived about the same time, which afforded the Tammanyites an opportunity to march in a body to their headquarters. The braves were met at the depot by the 74th regiment band and welcomed. The men fell into line and marched six abreast through Main street to the Genesee hotel, which will be their headquarters during the convention.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS.

The Convention To-day Under the Control of the Silver Men.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 16.—The silver element in the democratic party in Connecticut has carried the day and will have undisputed control of the convention to-day. The convention, in addition to the regular state and electoral tickets, will be called upon to name twelve members of the state committee to replace as many resignations. Chairman Clinton B. Davis announced yesterday afternoon that he would resign his chairmanship immediately after the convention came to order. The state committee met last evening for the purpose of getting the preliminaries out of the way. There were no contesting delegations and the question of a temporary chairman of the convention came up at once. Horace Taft of Watertown, was named by Mr. Davis for the gold men and William Kennedy of Naugatuck by the silver element. The latter gentleman was chosen by a vote of 10 to 7. Mr. Kennedy may continue as the permanent presiding officer of the convention, although the name of Alex Troup of New Haven has been mentioned. The ticket will probably be as follows: For governor, Joseph B. Sargent, New Haven; lieutenant-governor, S. A. Crandall, Norwich; secretary of state, S. A. Howdy, Bristol; treasurer, M. B. Dowe, Danielson; comptroller, P. Coughlin, Bridgeport.

Prohibition Nominations.

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The prohibition party convention was held at this city yesterday and the following nominations were made: For congress, thirty-fourth district, Mr. Benoit of Allegheny county; for assembly, first Chautauqua district, Dr. A. Rice of Jamestown; Second district, F. A. Ellis of Sherman.

AFTER CORBETT AND FITZ.

If They Arranged a Prize Fight in New York Arrests Will Follow.

New York, Sept. 16.—It transpires that Chief of Police Conlin has been trying to secure evidence that Corbett and Fitzsimmons arranged a prize fight at the Barthold hotel a few days ago. Mr. Conlin said that the penal code made it a misdemeanor to arrange any details of a prize fight in this city, or to even come to any agreement respecting it without signing articles. He stated that he read in several papers that a prize fight had been arranged between Corbett and Fitzsimmons. He sent letters to several newspapers, asking if they would, in the interest of justice, furnish evidence that a misdemeanor had been committed. "If I can get evidence that there was talk of a prize fight, as reported," said the chief, "I will arrest Corbett and Fitzsimmons and all the parties who had anything to do with arranging a fight."

THE RUMOR DENIED.

A. J. Moxham Says Rockefeller Is Not To Buy the Johnson Steel Works.

Cleveland, Sept. 16.—The rumor in circulation here to the effect that John D. Rockefeller has purchased the plant of the Johnson Steel company at Lorain is denied by president A. J. Moxham of the Johnson company. Ex-representative Tom L. Johnson is now absent from the city. An incident that seemed to give some support to the rumor is that Mr. Rockefeller during the last three days, has been driving about the country in the vicinity of Loraine, making a careful examination of the lay of the land between Loraine and Elyria. The building by Mr. Rockefeller of a fleet of ore-carrying vessels on the great lakes to carry the ore from his mines in the Superior region has led many persons to believe that he intended building or acquiring a steel plant to convert his ore into manufactured products.

American Health Association.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—The American Health association met here yesterday with delegates in attendance from various parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. Dr. Stephen Smith made an address in which he especially emphasized the fact that our international congresses can eventually expel the germs of yellow fever from the world as they have driven other pestilences from the earth.

Carlisle To Take the Stump.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—George M. Davis, chairman of the national democratic state central committee, has received a letter from secretary John G. Carlisle in which the secretary stated that he would come to Kentucky and stump the state for the national democratic ticket as soon as he could lay aside the duties of his office.

The Bancroft Sails for Constantinople.

New York, Sept. 16.—The U. S. S. Bancroft sailed yesterday afternoon for Constantinople. It was supposed that the cruiser Cincinnati, which was also at anchor off the New Jersey navy yard, was going as consort to the little gunboat, but she was not.

To Succeed Bishop Cove.

Boston, Sept. 16.—It is announced that Rev. Dr. Chauncey B. Brewster, rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal church, Brooklyn, will probably succeed as the successor of the late Bishop Cove of the diocese of western New York.

Receivers for National Banks.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Acting Comptroller Coffin says it will be necessary to appoint receivers for the Union National and Mutual National banks of New Orleans. They will be appointed next week.

Massachusetts Democrats.

Boston, Sept. 16.—Hon. Wm. S. McNary of Boston has been elected chairman of the committee on resolutions for the coming state convention by the executive committee of the democratic state committee.

Connecticut Republicans.

Hartford, Sept. 16.—The republican state central committee had a long meeting at the Allyn house last night. The conditions were declared to be favorable for a big republican victory.

New Orleans Financial Situation.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The financial situation at New Orleans is reported here as improving. The treasury is continuing the daily shipment of money there, having forwarded so far about $1,000,000.

President Goes Fishing.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., Sept. 16.—The president was not kept at home by the extremely disagreeable weather which prevailed here yesterday, but spent a few hours fishing in the bay.

MASSACRES FEARED

Inhabitants of Constantinople Are Slaves to Abject Terror.

CONSPIRACIES AGAINST THE SULTAN

Not Armenians Only, But Turks, Implicated---Ambassadors Take Measures To Protect Foreigners In the Event of Trouble.

Constantinople, Sept. 16.—It is becoming more and more evident every day that trouble of a most serious nature is brewing here. Conspiracy after conspiracy against the existing government is discovered and crushed, but still others spring up. These conspiracies are not hatched by Armenians alone, but many Turks have been arrested and disappeared. The population lives in abject fear of more massacres, with all their attendant horrors, instigated by the occupant of the Yildiz palace. At a sign of the least disturbance, shop doors and windows are shut and barred, and residences are barricaded as though for protection from the attack of an invading army. A serious panic occurred yesterday caused by an apparently trivial circumstance, which shows clearly in what terror the inhabitants exist. An Armenian living in the Galata quarter was arrested, in whose possession were a number of incriminating letters and a revolver. Everybody rushed into their houses and the doors of shops and dwellings were hastily barred, the people fearing a repetition of the looting and massacreing. The panic spread to Pera and similar scenes were enacted there. It was not until some hours after the arrest was made that the fears of the people were allayed and the shops reopened.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

Ambassadors at Constantinople Take Measures To Protect Foreigners.

Constantinople, Sept. 16.—The ambassadors of the powers at a meeting here yesterday afternoon mapped out a plan for measures to be taken for the protection of the different embassies and the foreign population generally in the event of a renewal of the disturbances here. The exact steps determined upon were not divulged, but they are understood to include the united action of the guardships of all the powers, each ship being assigned to a certain position and a certain number of men to be landed at a given signal to protect certain points. The defenses of the embassies will also, it is rumored, be considerably strengthened by an increase in the number of men now guarding them and by other precautions which will tend to make them capable of resisting attack for a considerable time. It is also reported that, under certain circumstances, a number of additional warships will reinforce the guardships now doing duty in these waters.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Weather Bureau's Weekly Report for the Eastern States.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The weekly telegraphic crop report of the weather bureau for the eastern states says: New England—Tobacco crop curing well, so-called grass fields, pastures, late forage crops, newly seeded grass and winter grains in excellent condition. New York—Potato blight general and largely affects the crop; hops generally secured in excellent condition; corn mostly cut; apple crop immense. New Jersey—Most favorable weather conditions; corn crop nearly all cut and in shock; late buckwheat cut and secured; cranberry yield about one-half of average. Pennsylvania—Crops ripening rapidly but shortened by drought; buckwheat not so well filled as reported; tobacco about all housed. Maryland—Weather favorable; late tobacco being housed in excellent condition and army worm damaged crops in Worcester county and cabbage worm troublesome in Anne Arundle and Somerset counties.

SUSTAINED BY THE POPE.

Archbishop Langevin To Reopen the Manitoba School Dispute.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface has returned from Rome, where he went to lay before the pope his attitude on the Manitoba school question, claiming that the rights of Catholics to separate schools as they existed prior to 1890 had been declared constitutional and schools should be restored. It is asserted that the pope entirely approved of the attitude of the archbishop, who will now continue his propaganda, which will have the effect of reopening the whole question. Meantime M. Laurier is still endeavoring to settle the question by conciliation, and his friends claim that he will be successful.

Sale of the Ohio Southern Ordered.

Lima, O., Sept. 16.—The sale of the Southern Ohio railroad, which is in receivers' hands, has been ordered by the court here, subject to the first mortgage bonds.

Papal Delegate Leaves Rome.

Rome, Sept. 16.—Archbishop Martinelli, the newly appointed papal delegate to the United States, has started for New York.

INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL

Iron and Cotton and Woolen Mills and Car Shops Resume.

WORK FOR THOUSANDS OF MEN

Improvement Not Confined to Any One Locality or Even State---Pennsylvania, Delaware, Illinois and New Hampshire Represented.

Pittsburg, Sept. 16.—There appears to be an industrial revival in progress, if the number of iron mills, car shops and woolen and cotton mills resuming operations can be taken as an indication. The resumption of work is not confined to any one locality, but extends to various parts of the country, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Illinois and New Hampshire being among those states from which comes the good news. Thousands of men have either been put to work within the last day or so or they will have employment within a very short time. The W. De Wees Wood iron mills at McKeesport, Pa., have resumed operations after a six weeks' shut-down, giving employment to 1,500 men. Other mills in that district have resumed, including the National Tube works. The Wilkesbarre & Eastern Railroad company's car shops are now working on full time. The Arlington cotton mills at Wilmington, Del., have resumed after a suspension of two months. At Johnstown, Pa., the Cambria iron works have resumed operations, giving employment to 3,000 men. The rolling mills of the Hollidaysburg Iron and Nail company at Hollidaysburg, this state, which have been shut down since June 1, have also resumed operations. After an idleness of two months, the Joliet branch of the Illinois Steel company started up this morning, giving employment to 2,000 men.

In New England.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 16.—Only twelve mills are now closed here. These are included under eleven corporations. The mills of twenty-nine are running, the largest number since the first part of July. Within the past few days the feeling has become very strong here that no mills will remain closed much longer. This much has been settled beyond dispute—there will be no further united curtailment this year by New England mills. Advices received here are to the effect that the mills of Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maine and Connecticut are starting up again. It is reasonably certain that some of them will not be closed until after the holidays. It is reported in mill circles this morning that all the Knights' mills in Rhode Island will continue running full time until the holidays at least. Similar reports about the northeastern Connecticut mills are heard.

IN PITIABLE PLIGHT.

A Starving Family Walk from Pittston, Pa., to New York.

New York, Sept. 16.—An entire family consisting of Michael Grevery, 35 years old; his wife, Rosalie, and four children, Theresa, Lizzie, Annie and Mary, aged 8 years, 5 years and 2 years, respectively, were brought to Yorkville police court yesterday as vagrants. They were Slavs and unable to speak any English. Through an interpreter, the father said they left Pittston, Pa., two days ago and had walked every foot of the distance to Jersey City. They had $2 when they started and not a penny when they reached the city and were on the verge of starvation, with their clothing in rags. Magistrate Flammer committed them to the custody of the charities commissioner to be disposed of.

POSTOFFICE CONTRACTS.

Bids Wanted for Carrying the Mails in Eastern and Middle States.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The postoffice department has advertised for bids for carrying the United States mails on star and steamboat routes in the New England and Middle states, including West Virginia. There are 5,700 contracts to be let, amounting to $2,700,000. These bids are to include wagon service in the principal cities of these states. Bids will be received until December 1, 1896, and the contracts are for a term of four years beginning July 1, 1897.

Valuable Bric-a-Brac Destroyed by Fire.

Boston, Sept. 16.—A fire supposed to have been caused by imperfect insulation of electric wires, occurred in the lining room of the handsome Univers ity club building, 270 Beacon street, yesterday, causing a loss of about $20,000. The fire destroyed some valuable paintings, china, handsome Spanish leather panels, brought at great expense from an old Spanish castle, and many other furnishings that it will be almost impossible to replace.

The Temple Cup Games.

Washington, Sept. 16.—At the baseball conference here yesterday it was agreed that the series of games for the temple cup should be played under the same rules that governed last season's contest. President Young will appoint the umpires, as heretofore, and the winning team will get 60 per cent. of the receipts and the losing club 40 per cent.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

Deficit for Eleven Weeks of Current Fiscal Year Amounts to $24,000,000.

Washington, Sept. 16.—For the first half of September the treasury receipts have aggregated $12,000,000 and the expenditures $13,651,000, leaving a small deficit so far. The receipts are running $2,000,000 lighter than for the same period of last September, but expenditures are being kept down, and it is probable that at the end of September a slight excess of receipts over expenditures will be shown. For the eleven weeks of the current fiscal year the deficit foots up $24,000,000. This deficit will be increased during October to nearly $30,000,000, as October is a heavy interest-paying month. The recent heavy importations of gold is beginning to be felt in the treasury cash, the gold reserve now footing up over $114,000,000. As this reserve increases the legal tender holdings, for which the gold is exchanged, are declining. United States notes now in the treasury amounts to $75,000,000, a loss of $14,000,000 within a month. The total cash in the treasury, including the gold reserve, is stated at $242,500,000.

AN INFORMAL RECEPTION.

Lord Russell Passes a Pleasant Afternoon in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Sir Charles Russell, lord chief justice of England, was entertained yesterday afternoon at a reception in the Pennsylvania Railroad company's offices, and several hundred of the most prominent men of the city were presented to him. Vice-president Frank Thomson, whose guest Lord Russell is, had charge of the reception in the absence of President Roberts, who is indisposed. The guests were presented to the distinguished jurist in the office of the president, and luncheon was served in the directors' room, which was handsomely decorated. The reception was informal and the chief justice chatted pleasantly with all who were presented to him.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

Republican Plurality Will Reach 50,000—Latest Figures.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 16.—Returns received from 375 cities, towns and plantations, give Powers, 75,384; Frank, 30,151; Bateman, 2,434; Ladd, 1,837; Clifford, 574. These figures give Powers a plurality of 45,233. The same towns in 1892 gave Cleaves 58,023; Johnson, 46,204; Hussey, 3,101; Bateman, 2,267; Knowlton, 185. Cleaves' plurality, 11,778. The remaining towns and plantations will increase the republican plurality to 50,000.

Gladstone and the Armenians.

Liverpool, Sept. 16.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to the Liverpool Reform club urging the organization of a mass meeting in behalf of the Armenians, and stating that, if desired, it might be possible for him to take part in the proceedings.

Labor Leader Mann Arrested.

Harrisburg, Sept. 16.—Tom Mann, the English labor leader, was arrested here yesterday. He had arranged to address several meetings to-day in connection with the proposed strike of dock laborers throughout the world.

For Governor of Massachusetts.

Boston, Sept. 16.—Judge John C. Lenox, secretary of the state democratic organization in Massachusetts, is now being prominently mentioned as the probable nominee of that party for governor.

ENGLAND IS PUZZLED

Were Tynan and Associates Arrested on False Information?

POSSIBLY A BOGUS DYNAMITE PLOT

A Theory That It Was a Scheme Invented To Secure the Release of Gallagher, Daly, Whitehead and Others from Portland Prison.

London, Sept. 16.—What was at first an apparently plain case of a concerted dynamite plot nipped in the bud by the arrest of P. J. Tynan at Boulogne and his associates in other places, has deepened into a really mysterious affair, not as to who were to be the victims of the bomb-throwing, but as to why the alleged dynamiters did not take precautions to prevent the discovery of their conspiracy, if conspiracy there was. The question now agitating the minds of some English secret service officials is whether there was really a dynamite plot at all, or whether it was simply a ruse to fighten the British public. Many prominent detectives who have studied the case believe the latter to be the correct solution of the otherwise inexplicable conduct of the alleged conspirators, but they are in doubt as to what was the real object of the manner in which the whole affair was conducted. The London newspapers, usually so prolific of theories, make no claims at the present time to know it all, but are clamoring for more light.

Was the Information Bogus?

An interesting theory is put forth by a man prominently identified with Scotland Yard affairs. He says he believes that Irishmen in the United States, working for the release of Dr. Gallagher, Daly, Whitehead and others serving a life sentence for dynamiting, invented the plot and then sold the details to England, the price being the release of the three above-mentioned men. To make the alleged existence of the diabolical plot plausible, Tynan and the others were sent abroad and the release of the prisoners followed. He says that, if Tynan is extradited from France, which he does not deem probable, no evidence of a conclusive nature can be found against him, and that all the British government will have to show for their trouble and fright will be the cells made vacant by paying the price demanded for bogus information.

Russian Features of the Plot.

Throughout yesterday and to-day the uniformed police have been engaged in a systematic search of the Irish quarter of Glasgow, where, it is known, a number of sympathizers with the dynamite movement reside and where dynamite was hidden at the time of the Tradeston outrage. The object of this search is to make certain that Beit has no confederates in the Irish quarter, as asserted by the police. Friends of the prisoners here assert that everything possible is being done by the police to develop the Russian features of the conspiracy, in order that the influence of the czar may be brought to bear upon the French government with the view of obtaining Tynan's extradition. The British authorities will probably have no easy task in connecting the prisoner with the Phoenix park murders, and his connection with the present plot will not be sufficient to result in capital punishment even if his extradition is granted, which is by no means certain.

Fenian-Nihilist Alliance Discredited.

The idea that the plot was a concerted movement between Fenians and Nihilists is becoming more and more discredited as the facts in the case develop. In fact the evidence that such an alliance exists is rapidly failing to prove. A dispatch from Paris says that Tynan has appealed to United States Ambassador Eustis and also to President Cleveland, demanding the protection of the United States government on the ground that he is an American citizen.

A BATTLE WITH ICE.

The American Bark Salina Unable To Reach Ivigtut, South Greenland.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 16.—The American bark Salina, 154 days from New York, bound for Ivigtut, South Greenland, has arrived here for orders, having failed to reach her destination owing to heavy ice floes which it was impossible to penetrate. She has been battling in the ice since May 12. This prevalence of ice off South Greenland will, it is believed, injuriously affect Lieutenant Peary's chances of getting north along the Greenland coast.

Official Denial from Madrid.

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 16.—Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister, in reply to an inquiry as to the reported wholesale execution of political prisoners in Havana, said that it was not so. He has just received an official cablegram from the Duke of Tetuan, the minister of foreign affairs, Madrid, emphatically contradicting the statements published as to the reported execution of fifty-one political prisoners in Havana.

Treasury Gold Reserve.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The treasury gold reserve at the opening of business this morning amounted to $114,042,868.

A WEDDING DAY.

BY MARY T. EARLE.

A girl came from the bayou along a little trail which passed through the marsh on bits of silvery cypress-drift and through the woods where brown pine-needles carpeted it, up to the Hildreth garden. The crape-myrtles stood stiff as sentinels beside the gate, but the walk led up between its borders in confident welcome to a blank open space, all gray and powdery, as if it had never seen the sunlight or felt moisture. The girl stood breathless, gazing at it. The last of the spring roses scattered their petals lavishly around the beds, and added their fragrance to the sweetness of the cape jasmine and the tiny fluffy balls of the acacias, but the Hildreth house was gone. The hollyhocks and the high shrubs seemed to be lifting themselves on tiptoe to look down at the scar where it had been. The breeze sighed a little through the great live-oak which had spent years in spreading wide and generous to shade the whole south gallery, and the mocking birds flitted in and out of its branches with that swift spreading of their wings for flight which makes the white bars in them always a revelation. After she had seen these things with widening eyes, the girl's hand went up to her throat, and she gave a little sob.

"Is everything to change?" she asked, half brokenly. Something in her mood stood between her and natural surprise. She felt as if she had been prepared to find the place like this, but the tears rose in her eyes as she looked, for each familiar beauty of it was something bereaved. She opened the gate and walked between the rose bushes toward the spot where the house had been, but when she reached it she turned away. She threaded all the bowery paths, and each seemed to hold something which she must turn away from, too; but when she stood by the acacia tree she put out her hand and touched it timidly. Soon, as it did not forbid her, she lifted her hand, drew down a branch, and picked just one of the tiny yellow tufts which breathe all the sweetness of the sweetest days of love, held it against her cheek for a moment, and then, with trembling fingers, hid it in the dark braids of her hair.

A faint "yo-heave-o," like the sailors hauling up an anchor, was wafted through the garden, and the girl raised her face and looked about her desolately. Far down Live Oak lane, between the rounded trees, she saw the Hildreth house. It seemed to have picked up its doorsteps and started out across the village; there was an excited gleam in its windows, and the sunlight, falling more freely on its roof than it ever had done in the garden, gave it the look of some tenderly shielded old person that has stolen bareheaded away from loving children, who do not remember that age has its restlessness.

The girl could notice now that a way had been cleared for the house to travel backward out of the garden, leaving the flowers courteously, as if they were a royal presence, and she followed in its path through the opened panel of fence and on into the lane, where the blue shimmer of the gulf ended the vistas of light on either side of the house. She walked eagerly, and her face dimpled into smiles, yet even as she smiled she put her hand up to her hair, and the depths of her eyes still kept their sorrow. "I don't see how Mrs. Hildreth could leave her flowers," she said once, with a sigh.

A band of creole workmen were prying the house along on its clumsy rollers, and shouting and singing resonantly at each slow forward lurch. Their voices had the sweetness of a summer land and knowledge of the sea, and they worked at leisure and gracefully, their red or blue shirts shining out against the greenery which still clung to the Hildreth house, for it had not laid aside its vines, but was carrying their roots daintily clear of the ground in baskets, just as another dear old fugitive might lift her skirts.

A woman with rosy cheeks and smooth brown hair was sitting by the window, and as the girl approached she reached down to help her take the long step from the road to the door-sill. "Connie Bainbridge," she said, "I don't know of anyone I would rather have come walking in like this to act as bridesmaid on my wedding day," and she drew her visitor into a room that was startlingly unchanged except for the glory of flowers with which the garden had said good-by. It was hard to remember that in the garden they had not been missed at all.

The girl sank into a chair and looked about her wearily. A long string of gulls eggs, creamy and softly flecked, hung near her on the wall. She took hold of them as she so often had before, and passed them through her fingers like a rosary. "Your wedding day?" she said.

"Anniversary, of course, I mean," Mrs. Hildreth answered, looking out through a window that gave a glimpse of the beckoning sea. She smiled mischievously as she looked. There was always something of generous content about her, as if life grew sweeter and broader with the afternoon sun; and Connie Bainbridge remembered that when the house had stood in its garden she herself had never lifted the gate latch and walked in between the roses without leaving every care behind. But now her heart had learned a different way. She took down the great rosary so that she might bend her head over it. "What is happening?" she asked.

Mrs. Hildreth looked at her, noticing the tone. "You see, we always celebrate each wedding day," she said. "When we come to the rounded numbers, we invite people, and do as they expect us to; but on the other years, that most people forget, we do just what we please - Robbie and I. Robbie has just gone over to the village, but he'll soon be home. This is our twenty-ninth wedding day, and we're moving to the sea. You know we were first married [illegible] we wanted a building site on the beach. And we couldn't afford it. Now we can, and so we're celebrating." She paused, looking curiously at Connie's face, which was turned away from her. When she went on there was a soft laugh in her voice. "We couldn't move without our house, of course; it's too much a part of us—and, anyway, when we die our shell may feel more at home if it's left on the beach."

The girl tried to join in Mrs. Hildreth's laugh, but when she parted her lips a low, passionate sob came through them. She fell on her knees and bowed her head in Mrs. Hildreth's lap. Her words came in a gasp. "This was to have been my wedding day," she said.

Mrs. Hildreth put her arms around her, murmuring: "My child!"

"Yes," the girl answered, in a hard, dry voice. "We decided to have no one but mamma and papa with us, and then to announce it and take you all by surprise; now we shall surprise you in another way, for it will never be at all." She was trembling, and she caught Mrs. Hildreth's dress in her hands. "It was my fault, of course," she finished; "at least you will think it was my fault."

The joy of her long, happy years shone before Mrs. Hildreth's eyes until they were blurred. She lifted the girl's face between her hands. "Connie Bainbridge," she said, gently, "you and Jack Houghton are not common place, foolish children who quarrel for no cause. Tell me all about your trouble, from beginning to end."

"I couldn't bear explaining it to mamma," Connie Bainbridge said, "and I meant to say nothing to anyone, but when you spoke like that of your wedding day"—her voice broke into the tone of one whose heart yields its all to sympathy or love. "Ah, I can tell everything to you," she cried, "for no one else on earth would know so well what I have thrown away."

Along the street which led from the center of the village to the old Hildreth place the great trees interlaced their restful shadows, letting only the smallest flecks of sunlight sift between them in the perfect silence of the idle summer afternoon. It was strange that the very shadows did not stir and change a little when a sharp thudding of hoofs and the swing of a horse broke through the air, and a young man came riding at a gallop beneath the trees. He held his head high, and his lips were compressed in a way that had nothing to do with the swift, easy motion of the horse, and there was a frown above his eyes, which were looking straight ahead with a sort of bitter challenge in them for all they saw or did not see. He drew rein abruptly at the Hildreth gate. The crape-myrtles were waiting for him as usual, and the sweet odors of the garden spread out to summon him, but the straight path led to vacancy.

"They'll be uprooting the roses next and carrying them after the house," he went on, turning his whip against a tall bush which he loved, and shaking a shower of pink petals to the ground. He tramped across them ruthlessly, bowed his head under an arbor of honeysuckles, and whistled a note or two as he walked along the paths. "I'll be glad when the whole thing is torn up," he declared; "it would be useless to try coming back here any more." He started to whistle again, but broke off. "Perhaps," he muttered, harshly, "you think you can stand seeing the Hildreths, when the garden is too much for you!" He stood quite still, and set his face against the inroads of a change which left nothing in his life untouched. The knowledge of all that had gone before him seemed to rise like a tide above him, until his physical balance was unsteadied by it, and he leaned against a tree and shut his eyes. In that moment of relaxation his senses were no longer guarded by anger, and he felt the soft, perfumed air stealing over him in a caress. There were many sweet odors in it, but one of them was more like a personal message than the others. He smiled faintly, and opened his eyes. It was the little acacia tree he was leaning against. He reached up for one of the yellow balls, and as he felt it between his fingers a memory of joy came into his face. The little thing was love itself, and it was so laden with sweetness. He kissed it more than once, and then, putting it in his pocket with a tender deference, he turned back along the path and followed where the house was leading toward the sunlit vista of the gulf.

Robbie Hildreth had returned from the village and was working among the creoles, but he hurried forward as the young fellow came up. Hildreth was an elderly man, whom time and the sun had touched so often and so lovingly that they had blended all the colors of his hair and face into a tone of silvery gray, out of which his blue eyes gleamed humorously as he shook the young fellow's hand. "Betty and I are having a wedding march for the twenty-ninth time," he said, "and Betty is guarding all her treasures in the house. We're going to have a wedding supper when we get to the beach, and you must stay."

"I forgotten that this was your wedding day," the young man said.

"Why, whose else should it be?" asked Hildreth, laughing. "Yours?"

The young fellow looked at him a moment. He knew that behind Robbie Hildreth's merry eyes there was one of the gentlest, truest souls. He drew him a little further from the workmen. "It was to have been my wedding day," he said.

Many people who knew that the Hildreth house was moving went out of their way to see the place where it had stood. Among them was the young minister who was taking his first charge in the village. Robbie Hildreth and he had met at the post office, and Hildreth had told him that the moving was a celebration, so he started presently to call on Mrs. Hildreth, and to wish her constant joy, and as many returns of the day in the future as there had been in the past. "That would

For President,
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
of Nebraska.

For Vice-President,
ARTHUR SEWALL,
of Maine.

Free silver for the people is better than bond issues for the millionaires.

The Democratic convention in the Fourth Congressional district of New Jersey met at Newton, yesterday, and nominated Augustus W. Cutler, the old Democratic war horse, who has preached free silver for a decade, by acclamation.

Responsibility for the temporary prostration of business of which merchants in all branches of trade complain is due to the Republican calamity howlers. They have, with utter disregard of truth, prated of the evils that will follow the election of Bryan until confidence has been undermined by their predictions of woe. They have brought about a condition of affairs that is a most potent argument against the cause they champion. The harder the times the more certain the people are to realize the necessity for a change.

Milk at two cents a quart for the last half of September means no return to the farmer for his labor or for his investments in farm and stock. It means hardship in every farm house and absolute ruin to tenant farmers or those living on heavily mortgaged farms. The market is said to be over-stocked, but the real trouble is in our vicious financial system and the constantly appreciating value of the dollar. Free silver coinage will afford relief and restore something like their old prosperity to the farmers of Orange and adjacent counties and to all other tillers of the soil.

All Americans will be glad to learn that the State Department has instructed Consul-General Lee to make a full and immediate investigation of the death of Charles Govin, the American newspaper correspondent who, after capture by Spanish soldiers, is alleged to have been bound to a tree and hacked to death. If Gen. Weyler does not promptly furnish all the information demanded the matter will be laid before the government at Madrid. If the facts are as stated all that can be done will be to demand an apology and financial reparation, always a poor compensation for human life. A more assertive policy toward Spain in the past, less diplomacy and more war ships in Cuban waters would, however, have made the reported outrage an impossibility.

In the event of McKinley's election there is no possibility that existing conditions can be changed for the better by any act of the Administration. McKinley, if he goes to the White House, will be the the most helpless President the country ever had. The free silver Republican and Populist Senators will consent to no legislation on the tariff that is not coupled with legislation in the interest of silver, and McKinley has committed himself so unreservedly to the single gold standard that he cannot sign a silver bill without stultifying and degrading himself. With revenues less than the expenses of government and with the "endless chain" of greenbacks drawing on the gold reserve, he would be forced to continue Cleveland's policy of bond issues and the "national honor" would again and again be entrusted to syndicates of gold-grabbing bankers, who would grow richer and richer, while the people would as steadily grow poorer. The only hope of relief is in the election of Bryan and a return to the money of the Constitution.

JUDGE FULLERTON'S IDEA OF 16 TO 1.

Judge Fullerton, of Port Jervis, was one of the speakers at a Republican meeting in Susquehanna, Saturday night, and, according to the Binghamton Leader, showed his grasp of the financial question by saying: "This is the most powerful nation on earth, but it is not strong enough to make your butcher take 16 ounces of silver for $1." A butcher in the hall said, "Yes, we will." This caused roars of laughter.

M'KINLEY HAD NOTHING TO SAY

From the New York Journal.

The Republican newspapers lay great stress on the fact that Mr. Bryan had nothing to say on the returns from Vermont. Yet it will be observed that Mr. McKinley has not been thrown into a spasm of volubility over the returns from Arkansas.

Thousands of people are subject to bowel trouble in some of its various forms. Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry is an unfailing remedy in all such cases.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Buffalo Filled With Enthusiastic Crowds—Sulzer Making a Hard Fight for the Gubernatorial Nomination—Temporary Chairman Grady's Rousing Speech

BY UNITED PRESS.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16—The convention crowds are here and there is noise galore. There are bands and street parades of Tammany braves; there are hurrahs for Bryan and free silver and there are politicians who declare that McKinley cannot carry New York and that the man named for Governor will defeat Black.

Sulzer's headquarters, this morning, were more thronged than those of Thacher. There was also more enthusiasm at the former. Sulzer is utilizing every chance to push his canvass and his friends want to prolong the convention until to-morrow, when they maintain the Thacher boom will collapse.

Yorke, of Kings, says his delegation has positively no candidates to offer for any office.

The convention assembled at 12:30. The Tammany men were the first delegates to arrive. All the unreserved seats in the galleries were quickly filled. John C. Sheehan and Maj. Hinkley were cheered. Sulzer was greeted with shouts and applause from the floor and galleries.

Mack, of Buffalo, and Chase, of Albany, escorted Temporary Chairman Thomas F. Grady to the chair. He was greeted with faint hand clapping, but his address soon aroused hearty applause from delegates and spectators.

In his address Mr. Grady said: "As loyal representatives of Democratic constituencies you are assembled to again declare your faith in Democratic principles, your respect for Democratic authority and your confidence in Democratic success. In this respect you differ from some who were, for many yea s, associated with you, who are using their profession of Democracy as a mask under which to conceal the purely selfish character of their political actions, and who now are leagued with your political opponents in denouncing Democratic principles, defying Democratic authority and aiding, in so far as they may, to defeat Democratic candidates. Their adherence to or dependence upon the money power controls their political action."

Mr. Grady's tributes to Bryan and Sewall during his speech, were received with shouts and yells of applause and approval from the delegates and with lots of noise by the galleries.

Grady was given three cheers and a tiger when he finished.

Temporary secretaries were appointed and contests from Albany, Monroe, Wayne and Wyoming, were reported and referred to the Credentials Committee.

Sidgeney, of Kings, offered a resolution heartily approving of the Chicago ticket and platform, and pledging the nominees an earnest and cordial support.

The usual committees were appointed, and a committee was authorized to report the names of electors. Various resolutions were offered and referred.

The convention adjourned at 1:43 until 10 o'clock to morrow.

DENIED THE RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

An Obsolete Ordinance Enforced to Break Up a Democratic Meeting—Indignant Citizens Bring Cleveland's Mayor to Terms.

BY UNITED PRESS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—Howard Dennis, while addressing a meeting in a public square yesterday, was arrested for violating an obsolete ordinance requiring permits for such meetings. The ordinance has never been enforced and a thousand indignant men threatened to tear down the log cabin, from which floated the banner announcing a McKinley excursion to Canton. The police saved the cabin and then the crowd, now numbering at least 5,000, went to the Mayor's office to demand a reason for abridging the right to free speech. The Mayor was not in and the Director of Police gave as a reason for the arrest that Dennis was making an incendiary speech.

Those who had heard the speech knew that this was not true, and they returned to the square declaring they would fight for their rights if necessary. Three local speakers attempted to deliver addresses and were promptly arrested.

The crowd grew more and more angry every minute, and the situation was becoming critical when the Mayor appeared and announced from the stand that the police had exceeded their authority. He promised to see that the arrested men were released and that the right of free speech was accorded hereafter.

A Pennsylvania Express Dashes Into Obstructions on the Track.

BY UNITED PRESS.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 15—According to the stories of passengers, the Pennsylvania Railroad's Western Express, which left Harrisburgh at 11:55, last night, had a remarkable escape from train wreckers near the village of Newport. They say the train ran into an obstruction of ties and old rails at a curve, but remained on the track. This is the second attempt to wreck trains at this point within two weeks.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A TEN INNING GAME.

The Asylums Defeated by the Goshens in a Close and Interesting Contest.

The Asylums were defeated in a ten inning game at Goshen, yesterday, by a score of 6 to 5. The game was well contested throughout and should have been won by the Asylums, who outbatted their opponents, and also outplayed them in the field. The Goshens bunched their hits, however, and, aided by the Asylums' errors at critical points, managed to win the game.

Farrell pitched a fairly good game, but was somewhat wild, sending no less than seven men to first on called balls. Tierney, who pitched for the Goshens, struck out five men and only sent one man to first on called balls.

"Pete" Agnew caught a good game, and "Eddie" Wengenroth played a star game at second, as the subjoined summary will show:

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

A Division of Bicycle Riders in the Fire Parade.

Ex-Alderman Z. K. Greene and F. W. Elliot are the originators of the idea of having a bicycle division in the annual fire parade and have sent out invitations to a number of wheelmen to meet at Monhagen Hose house, to-morrow evening, for an interchange of opinions and, it generally favored, to decide upon a plan of carrying out the idea. The meeting will not be restricted to those who have been personally invited and all owners of wheels will be welcome.

The idea of Messrs. Greene and Elliot is that the wheels and their riders should make some attempt at decorations, which would make the feature still more interesting.

Middletown has enough bicyclists—ladies and gentlemen, girls and boys, to make a fine showing and all that is needed is to fall in with the plan suggested to make it a grand success. This feature could be made all the more successful by inviting bicyclists from neighboring towns and villages to join in the demonstration.

THE OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS.

Many Children sent Home for Lack of Room—Measures of Relief Under Consideration.

Superintendent Tuthill has found it necessary to refuse a large number of young children admission to the schools. The youngsters showed up at the opening of the schools, last week, anxious to begin their studies, but the primary departments were so overcrowded that all could not be accommodated, and therefore the younger children were sent home and there they remain. The Benton avenue and Bennett Hill schools were the ones on which the pressure was greatest.

It may be necessary to rent an additional room, or the Board of Education may wisely conclude to put some of the very young pupils on half time, and allow some to attend in the mornings and others in the afternoons.

Paving a Portion of Wickham Avenue

The Traction Co. is using the brick taken up on East Main street to pave between the tracks on Wickham avenue, between North street and Linden avenue. This will be a great improvement as the street washes badly there with every rain.

To Visit Sha-wan-ga Lodge.

A party of about a dozen young people will go to Sha-wan-ga Lodge, on the mountain above Bloomingburgh, to-morrow, for a supper and a good time generally.

One Minute Cough Cure, cures.
That is what it was made for.

HYMENEAL.

Giles—Pratt.

A very quiet home wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pratt, No. 28 Lake avenue, the contracting parties being their daughter, Miss Louise, and Walter H. Giles, a valued employe of Lindsey & Co., contractors.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. David J. Evans, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, in the presence of about forty immediate relatives and friends.

The cosy parlor was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and plants. The bridal party stood under an arch of golden rod, from which was suspended a bell of chrysanthemums.

Miss Cora O'Neal was the bridesmaid and Job B. Giles, brother to the groom, officiated as groomsman.

After congratulations had been offered a bounteous wedding supper was served.

The young couple left on Erie train 3 for Niagara Falls. Their wedding journey will last three weeks, most of which will be spent in Canada. Upon their return they will take up their residence in a newly furnished home, prepared by the groom, on Walkill avenue.

Among the numerous and beautiful wedding gifts were a rocker from the groom's fellow employes, and a lamp from Lindsey Brothers.

The ARGUS extends congratulations.

THE O. & W'S. PROSPERTY.

Its Annual Report Makes a Most Satisfactory Showing.

From the New York Times.

Friends of the Ontario and Western railroad are enthusiastic over the progress made by that company during the last year, as shown by the annual report made public yesterday. Because of heavy expenditures made for betterment and charged into operating expenses, it was apprehended that the figures of the year might comparatively make a bad showing, but the result is an increase of more than 15 per cent. in the year's surplus, compared with the showing for the year preceding.

The net earnings for the year were $1,080,777 as against $1,028,700 for the preceding year. The surplus after payment of interest, rentals, etc., was $375,569 as against $326,382 in 1895.

WILL NOT PARADE.

The 24th Declines the Invitation to Participate in the Erie Depot Corner Stone Laying.

At a meeting of the 24th Separate Company, held last evening, it was decided, by a large negative vote, to decline the invitation of the Erie Railroad officials to participate in the ceremonies of the laying of the corner stone of the new depot on September 24th. The company has had so many outings during the summer, including its week's tour at camp, that it is impossible for many of the members to obtain leaves of absence, even for half a day.

One Dollar to New York and Return.

The Erie will run one of its ever popular excursions to New York on Wednesday, Sept 23 at rate of one dollar for round trip. Special trains will be run each way, leaving James street at 7:54, Main street 7.56 a. m. Returning leave New York at 7.40, Jersey City 8 p. m. Connection will be made with Pine Bush branch train in the morning and a special train will be run over the branch in the evening to connect with the special from New York at Main street. 7td

A Pigeon in the Headlight.

A pigeon flew against or was struck by the headlight of the locomotive which hauled Erie train 1 over the Susquehanna Division, Sunday. The glass was broken and the bird went through it into the headlight where it was found alive and apparently unharmed when the train stopped at Owego.

Reduced Rates to the Laying of the Erie Depot Corner Stone.

On account of the ceremonies in connection with the laying of the corner stone of Middletown's new Erie depot, the Erie will sell round trip tickets at the regular one way fare, on Thursday, Sept 24th, at all stations between Suffern and Port Jervis, including branches.

The New Paltz Races.

A three days' trotting meeting began at New Paltz, yesterday. Pine Knot won the 2.50 class in straight heats, in 2.25¼, 2.25¼, 2.26¼. Nellie G. won the 2.20 class in straight heats, in 2.21, 2.22½ and 2.21½.

—Extensive repairs are being made to the Goshen Institute.

—Remember the concert at Music Hall, to-morrow night, in aid of the A. C. M. P. Church.

Found Dead in an Outhouse.

Coroner Decker was called to Stone Bridge, near Warwick, yesterday afternoon, to investigate the death of Joseph Garrabrandt, aged seventy-eight years, who was found dead in an outhouse at his home, Monday evening. Mr. Garrabrandt had been ill for some time, and his physician, Dr. F. N. Cummins, of Warwick, pronounced his death due to heart trouble complicated with pneumonia. A certificate was granted without an inquest.

The Orange County Fair.

The Orange County Fair opened at Newburgh, yesterday, under very favorable circumstances,—good weather and a fine display in all departments.

The attendance was fully up to that usual on the first day.

Thursday will be the "big day," and will be a bigger day than usual on account of the financial debate between Mr. St. John and Mr. Adams.

False Rumor of a Fire.

Considerable excitement was occasioned in this city, last evening, by a report that the St. Elmo Hotel in Goshen was on fire, and many people took a ride on the trolley to the county seat to see the blaze. We are pleased to state that the rumor proved to be a canard, the only fire in the hotel being one which was lighted in the furnace.

The Day of Atonement.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, or the long fast, will begin at sunset this evening and continue until sunset to-morrow evening. The places of business of all those of the Hebrew faith in this city will be closed during that time. Services will be held in the Temple Beth Israel, this evening, by Rev. Dr. Philo, and will be in English.

A WEDDING DAY.

take them far beyond their golden wedding," he thought, and, with a sudden realization of the faithfulness of love which had lasted so long and would last so much longer if heaven spared them, he turned his steps to pass the garden where they had lived together for so many years.

Even young ministers feel a rise and fall of the divine spirit within them, and as this young man stood by the Hildreth gate and looked at the loneliness that was left when all the flowers clustered about an empty spot of sand, a fresh understanding of the sacredness of kindly living came to him, and filled him with inspired humility. There seemed so many warm, sweet, simple truths to tell the world, although he felt himself almost too young and far too wisdomless to speak. "Twenty-nine years," he thought, "of the most actual tests of grace—and I have not even reached the point where they began. I love no one woman better than another—perhaps I should thank God for it—and I've never even performed a marriage ceremony in my life."

He looked about him from the site of the house to all the things which the Hildreths had been cherishing so long. "I don't see how they can bear to leave their flowers," he said, with a little sigh; "but then, as long as they take their love with them, more flowers will grow." It seemed to the young minister just then that grace might be less varying if he felt more of individual love; but soon he turned from the gate and walked round outside the garden and down into Live-Oak lane, following the house. He was still a very young man, and pretty little speeches went from him sometimes, and so as he walked he kept repeating: "I wish you constant joy, and as many returns of the day in the future as there have been in the past."

He neared the house, and noticed how daintily it had raised its vines to move, and he was wondering if it would be just the thing for him to tell Mrs. Hildreth how much it looked like her when she came to church on wet or dusty mornings, but before he could decide he saw that Mr. Hildreth was standing several rods nearer to him than to the house and talking very earnestly, with his hand on tall Jack Houghton's shoulder. The minister paused, for they looked as if they were speaking in confidence, and he wished neither to go forward and interrupt them nor to retreat. Just as he paused, Mrs. Hildreth stepped down from the house, followed by Connie Bainbridge. The minister felt that it was awkward to be standing there in indecision, and he blushed. No one saw him, however, for Mrs. Hildreth and Connie Bainbridge both stopped with a startled look at sight of the two men who were talking together. There were traces of tears about Mrs. Hildreth's eyes, and Connie's face was white. They stood still for a moment, and then Connie shrank back toward the door, but Mrs. Hildreth took her hand. The girl's expression changed and lighted. She went forward swiftly and touched young Houghton on the arm. The minister turned away when Houghton, taken by surprise, and bending to her, spoke her name.

Mrs. Hildreth and Robbie moved away from them and toward the minister, who stepped to meet them, smiling and fumbling with his thoughts, for the words he meant to say were gone. It happened that he did not need them, for Mrs. Hildreth turned back and took the other young people in the house, Robbie Hildreth's smile was merrier than ever in his eyes. "Do you know the marriage service?" he asked.

"Why—why, of course," stammered the minister, "but I've never—"

"Then it's time you began," said Robbie Hildreth, and he felt that the minister was trembling as he took him by the arm and drew him toward the door. "It's not a dangerous thing, you know," he added, reassuringly. "I can testify, after 20 years."

The young minister flushed warmly, but his arm grew steadier. "You have shown what a beautiful thing it can be," he said. And yet he hesitated in the doorway, for Mrs. Hildreth was at the window telling the men outside that they might let the house stand still a little while, so the two young people were standing alone together hand in hand. He could see their faces, and he felt very sure that it would be an intrusion if he went forward to speak to them. But Robbie Hildreth was behind him, pushing him gently, and Mrs. Hildreth had turned from the window. A great stillness fell like an invocation, and, gathering his courage, he went toward them, and his heart stirred nervously as he rehearsed the marriage service in his mind.

Afterward, while the house was moving leisurely along its way, the minister stopped down from it, and wandered back to the deserted garden. He stopped a second time beside the gate. The roses that spring had forgotten mingled their sweetness with the rich creamy fragrance of the cape jasmines and the fluffy yellow acacias—the flowers of love. The big live-oak which had sheltered so much happiness seemed still reaching out to cover the blank space where the dust drifted.

"I wished them constant joy," he murmured, and the color mounted softly to his cheek, for they had wished him something, too. Their joyous faces rose against the isolation where he stood. A few small cosmos blossoms looked up in his eyes. There are many names for them. They are often spoken of in jest, yet there are men who count them flowers of triumph—others, flowers of unrest.

"Bachelor's buttons," he whispered, smiling at them; "the flowers of loneliness—but I should not be saying that," and he knelt quickly, then, to gather one, and as he knelt he breathed a little penitential prayer.

"In hoc signo vinces," he added, when he rose. He glanced apprehensively out toward the road, and, slipping the flower into his buttonhole, walked slowly home.—Outlook.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an imbecile, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.....

Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Sizemore St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

RESTORATION OF OIL WELLS.

An Electric Heater Designed to Cause the Renewed Flow.

The general theory concerning the exhaustion of so many oil wells is that the oil, in passing through the stone, has clogged the porous stones with paraffine in such quantities that the further flow is stopped and the well ceases to produce. In many cases, says the Age of Steel, the supply in the earth has not given out, but only ceases to flow when the exit is stopped. The stone through which the oil passes is of a very porous nature, and, as the liquid is in a crude state, the thick matter becomes as dregs, settling in the rock near the edges of the bottom of the well. Torpedoes have been used to shatter the stone at the bottom of the well, thus breaking up the clogged matter, but this method is expensive. A new method consists in lowering a peculiarly-constructed electric heater into the well. The machine, which is eight feet long and resembles an iron cartridge, is placed in the bottom of the well and the current regulated so that the heater receives just enough to produce an enormous heat without melting the metal. By this peculiar construction of the carbon-packed chambers the intense heat is radiated about into the rock in all directions. Thus the paraffine and other refuse are softened and melted up so that they run, and when the well is started a fresh flow takes place, just as strong as it did when the well was just sunk.

A Baby Carriage.

Mr. Frederick Locker-Sampson mentions in his autobiographical sketch, "My Confidences," that walking in Greenwich park one day, the only mortal he met was a simpering lass, reading a comic paper, and pushing her charge in a baby-carriage. He thus comments on the meeting: "There is nothing more beautiful in nature than a "woman with a child in her arms. An experienced nurse dandling a baby is a pretty sight. Conceive if Rachael had had to deal with the perambulator!"

NO GAS ABOUT THIS.

A City Lamplighter In a New Role—A Flash of the Light of Publicity.

F. M. Newkirk, who lives at 172 West Main street, has half the city lamps to trim, light and extinguish. This necessitates his being round in all kind of weather and if the exposure to inclement and wet weather was not the cause of his complaint it at least accelerated it. In speaking it about Mr. Newkirk says: "There have been times when I wished I could quit work on the account of my kidneys. I have had ten years of it. Latterly my troubles have become complicated, a weak stomach and dyspepsia preventing me from indulging in strong foods such as I require to fit me for following my occupation. Backache, headache and dizziness accompained this, often so severe that they made me wild. I took medicine of all kinds for my sickness, but I received little or no lasting relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills drug store. They seemed to help me right from the start and I kept on taking them until I was cured. The old pains and aches have left me and there is no indication of the trouble returning. They did for me all that any medicine could do. Indirectly they have helped my stomach for I now can eat the strongest and richest food. I will always praise Doan's Kidney Pills. I can be spoken to any day as I make my rounds and I will be only too glad to give any further particulars."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Sent by mail or receipt of price. For sale by all dealers.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

Office of the Secretary of State,

ALBANY, August 1, 1896.

Pursuant to the provisions of section seven, chapter nine hundred and nine, Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-six, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section seven, article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York, will be submitted to the people of said State, for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the third day of November eighteen hundred and ninety-six.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, RELATING TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended, so as to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the State, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. Except as authorized by this section, they shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. The Legislature may authorize the leasing for such term as it may by law fix, of a parcel of not more than five acres of land in the forest preserve to any one person for camp and cottage purposes. The Legislature may also authorize the exchange of lands owned by the State, situate outside the forest preserve, for lands not owned by the State situate within the forest preserve. The Legislature may also authorize the sale of lands belonging to the State, situate outside the forest preserve, but the money so obtained shall not be used except for the purchase of lands situate within the forest preserve, and which, when so purchased, shall become a part of the forest preserve.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Senators, and that in conformity to section one, article fourteen of the constitution, to be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK:
IN SENATE,
April 23, 1896.

This bill was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected voting in favor thereof, three-fifths being present.

By order of the Senate.
CHARLES T. SAXTON, President.

STATE OF NEW YORK:
IN ASSEMBLY,
April 29, 1896.

This bill was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof, three-fifths being present,

By order of the Assembly.
HAMILTON FISH, Speaker.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution, proposing an amendment to article seven, section seven of the Constitution, with the original concurrent resolution on file in this office, and I do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof.

Given under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State, at the City of Albany, this first day of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.

The foregoing Concurrent Resolution is published once a week for three months next preceding the next general election in conformity to the aforesaid provisions, in two public newspapers in each county in this State representing respectively the two political parties polling the highest number of votes at the last general election, and in one additional newspaper in each county for every one hundred thousand people in such county as shown by the last preceding State Enumeration.

JOHN PALMER, Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT.

Shall the proposed amendment to section seven of article seven of the Constitution relating to the forest preserve become a law?

SCOTT'S Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites, can be taken as easily in summer as in winter. Unlike the plain oil it is palatable, and the hypophosphites that are in it aid in digestion and at the same time tone up the system.

For sickly, delicate children, and for those whose lungs are affected, it is a mistake to leave it off in the summer months. The dose may be reduced if necessary.

We recommend the small size especially for summer use, and for children, where a smaller dose is required. It should be kept in a cool place after it is once opened.

The Difference.

Small Boy—Pa, what is the difference between a pessimist and an optimist?

Pa—Well, let me see if I can illustrate. You know I am often discouraged, and things don't look to me as if they'd ever go right. Well, at such times I can be said to be a pessimist. But years ago, when I was a young man, everything looked bright an rosy, and I was always hopeful. Then I was an optimist. Now, my son, can you understand the difference between a pessimist and an optimist?

Small Boy—Oh, yes; one is married and the other isn't.—N. Y. Weekly.

Not a Serious Question.

A friend of Col. Carter's was proposing a fishing excursion, and the colonel promptly and heartily expressed approval.

"We'll staht the first thing in the mo'nin', suh," he said, "so as not to lose any mo' time than is necessary."

"We'll first ascertain what the condition of the water is."

"Of co'se, if you feel so inclined. But yoh needn't bother on my account. I never dilute my bait."—Washington Star.

A Gentle Hint.

Paterfamilias (severely)—There was a young gentleman with you in the parlor last night?

Sweet Girl (gently) — Yes, pa—Mr. Stayer.

"A— it was after 11 before he went home, miss. I'd like to know what kept him so late."

"Well, pa, you looked so angry at me when you came in and saw him that I guess he thought I needed a protector, and so he stayed until he thought you were asleep."—N. Y. Weekly.

Reciprocity.

"And would you die for me?" the fair young thing asked.

"Well," the cruel man replied, as he fondled the golden braid that was hanging down her back. "I suppose it would be only doing the fair thing, since you seemed to have bleached for me."

Whereupon a solemn stillness enfolded them.—Cleveland Leader.

Unprecedented.

She—We were so disappointed, doctor, that you did not call Tuesday evening.

He—I was disappointed, also. The fact is, I was suddenly called to visit a patient—

She — Ah! That was it. Nobody could think of any reason for your absence.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Safety.

Mamma—I don't like the idea of that young Harris hanging around Jenny so much. He hasn't a cent except his little salary.

Papa—You needn't worry. They are both too busy talking about bicycles to have any time for lovemaking.—Detroit Tribune.

The Annual Rest.

Young Husband—My dear, after a year of unremitting labor and closest economy we have, I find, succeeded in saving about $500. What shall we do with it?

Young Wife—Well, my dear, we both need rest. Let's go to a summer resort for a week.—N. Y. Weekly.

Knew His Business.

Train Robber (to passengers in Pullman)—Be not alarmed, ladies and gentlemen, what few valuables you have left you are welcome to. I would be obliged, however, if some gentleman would direct me to the porter's quarters.—Bay City Chat.

Force of Habit.

His request that she would wed him
She did not intend to scoff;
But she was a business woman,
So she answered: "Can't get off."
—Chicago Record.

MADE BY MACHINERY.

The Tourist—Most of your statesmen are self-made, are they not?

The Native—Not much. Most of them are made by political machines.—Brooklyn Life.

Fair Warning.

Kate—You say now that I am an angel.

Charlie—I do! You are!

Kate—Then take care that I don't use my wings after we are married.—Town Topics.

Customer—Is that the razor you shaved me with the last time?

Knight of the Razor—Yes, sir.

Customer—Chloroform, please!—Tit-Bits.

Good Advice.

"Say, I've had an offer to go to work for a Chicago wholesale house. What would you do if you were in my shoes?"

After a careful inspection—"I think I would black 'em."—Rockford Republic.

SMITH'S BILE BEANS

SAVED HER LIFE.

J. F. SMITH & Co., 255 Greenwich St., N. Y.: With pleasure I testify to the merits of your celebrated "Bile Beans." My wife, who suffered more or less for years past, particularly one year ago, when not expected to live. Her trouble was called Gall Stones, or hardening of the gall. On the 15th of July, 1889, I received the bottle of "Bile Beans" you forwarded to me. She gave them a thorough trial and has not been troubled with liver or stomach complaint since. She gives "Bile Beans" all the credit for her quite good health for the past 5 months. We have on hand nearly one bottle, but do not wish to be without them at any time, so please mail $1 worth for money enclosed. A. K. CLARK, Moravia, N. Y.

LOWER PRICES FOR MILK

The Consolidated Exchange Cuts Down the Price to Two Cents a Quart.

The action of the Consolidated Milk Exchange in reducing the price of milk from Sept 15th to two cents a quart was a surprise to all farmers The former price two and a quarter cents a quart was low for this season and the present prices are about the lowest ever paid for the first half of September The reason assigned for the reduction is that the milk is overstocked—a condition it is needless to say that the dealers have done their best to bring about and perpetuate

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

Vocal Society Prospectus—Other Local Notes—Personal Mention—One of the Peculiarities of the Young—A New Vehicle.

From a Special Correspondent

—The Vocal Society will give Barnby's cantata of Rebekah and a miscellaneous programme on the evening of Oct 22d The next concert will be the annual production of The Messiah on the evening of Dec 28th This will be followed by concerts in March and April In the latter month The Elijah will probably be given The annual reunion of the Society will be held on the evening of Nov 9th

—The ladies of St James Guild will meet this week on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs Charles M Vail

—Rev George Betts returned from Lake Champlain on Friday evening

—H C Durland and family left home on Tuesday for a week's outing

—There is a certain imitative instinct in every child derived possibly from its ape ancestry that leads it to pick up the peculiarities of those with whom it associates The singular thing is however that it seldom fails to imitate that which is undesirable or wrong rather than the things one would wish it to acquire For instance if its parents with whom it spends most of its time speak grammatically and with refined intonation and at the same time it is thrown quite constantly with those whose language is incorrect and accompanied now often it will imitate the latter rather than the former A profane word or expression is also adopted by the average youngster with much promptness and though its meaning may not be understood by the delinquent it is invariably used with an appropriateness which is somewhat startling

—One of the strangest or strangest places on which to find was that recently chosen by a woman who was found upon the cow catcher of a locomotive with a child in her arms and a cat in her lap The child's unloubtedly intended to have with her birth because of the cat was considered due to its having been thrown there by the cowcatcher By the way how great must have been the consternation of a cow catcher that only sailed in capturing cats Probably it could pull the pilots that had a boots better than no bird It is possible that the voting woman and no bicycle and would try scorching

MONROE'S HIGH TAX RATE

Unusual Expenses Will Necessitate a Very Heavy Tax Levy

By Special to Argus Correspondent

The taxpayers of the town of Monroe have a heavy tax burden staring them in the face the coming year and are naturally much exercised in mind over the same The bridge expense account is quite a big one and made so by the great flood last spring Then the award of $6,500 in settlement of the Hoolock case the purchase of a new site for the erection of a new and modernly constructed and furnished town hall all in all the usual annual budget of town expenses and such modernisms as will frequently creep in will run the tax rate up to what will prove to be a quite startling figure for old Monroe

BOLD HIGHWAYMEN

They Attempted to Hold Up a Milkman and Stoned Him When He Escaped.

About 5 o'clock this morning as John Watling the milkman was going on Sheridan Johnson's road on his way to sell his morning delivery of milk in this city the mare suddenly came to the road way and attempted to hold him up Mr Watling saw the horse's intentions and was through the speed of a fast mare and upon the whip vigorously and the animal sprang forward and left the highwaymen behind

The waylayers are said to be men that they did not see in the wagon but none the less did Mr Watling of his [illegible] with purpose for highway robbery

O. A. W. Need Not Maintain Gates on Pilgrim's.

The Supreme Court has given a long-standing decision that the old thoroughfare known as Pilgrim's Path among the mountains in Ontario County New York need not be maintained as a toll road by the wheelmen's association that only said old capturing rich Probably it could pull the pilots that had a boots better than no bird It is possible that the voting woman and no bicycle and would try scorching

"HOW BAD THEY FEEL."

The Middletown Papers Express the Gloom of Middletown.

From the Port Jervis Union

We wonder if the journalists of Middletown think that the baseball enthusiasts of this village are still in that state of innocence which characterized Adam and Eve Every journal in the city of Middletown says that the Y M C A team defeated the Asylum Reserves' Asylum Reserves well well well—Reserves'

The team which opposed the Y M C A team Saturday was a strong accumulation of ball players as ever donned the Asylum uniforms Port Jervis 'rooters' seem weak kneed sports and when we are beaten we simply concede the laurels to the victors

Now bring on your 'Regular Asylum team and we'll defeat you so badly that Manager Cook will give up base ball for golf for such players would positively look suits

A CHILD'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Struck and Knocked Down by the Step of a Trolley Car.

A little daughter of Officer Elsha White aged about four years had a very narrow escape this morning Her mother had sent her to the store on North street near Wisner avenue She ran out of the store into the street just as a car came along

Very fortunately she had not yet stepped inside the rails or she would have been killed for it would have been impossible to stop the car in so short a space As it was she was struck by the step of the car and knocked down Her shoulder and arm were considerably bruised but her injuries are not serious

THE BLUES.

A Graphic Description of the Dreadful Feeling.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way —

She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time, head aches, and back also, has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice, head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast, then that bearing down feeling. Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia, you'll be all right soon"

But she doesn't get "all right" She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake

She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant Then she wrote to Mrs Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned

Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.
